Seventh Sunday after Trinity

Sunday July 14th, 2024

Today's gospel reading gives us the account of the killing of John the Baptist. The one chosen by God to prepare the way for his Son, falls foul of Herod. The abuse of power in this story is total, and all to avoid losing face! So many people in the world still are victims of the abuse of power as they seek to witness to a greater truth than that peddled by the powerful. May God grant strength in the face of persecution.

For your prayers

For the Church especially where it faces persecution
For Sarah our bishop, and Emma our area bishop
For The King
For those newly elected to Parliament, and for both government and opposition; for power to be used well for the good of all
For peace in our world and especially in the Holy Land and Ukraine; for the wider Middle East; for Sudan and Myanmar in the midst of a civil war
For the sick and suffering, for those in hospital, in different forms of care or supported at home
For the departed especially those who died recently, and any we know whose anniversaries fall at this time
