Twenty First Sunday after Trinity

Sunday October 20th, 2024

The Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve.

Today's gospel reading has Jesus state in words what he demonstrates in deeds, that he has come as a servant. The one who could demand unquestioning obedience, and assert his power, does not do this. Rather, he serves and sets the pattern for those who follow him. So often, power is exercised for its own sake, and those with it seek to serve their own needs rather than those of others. Let us pray that all may know that in serving others we find a richer meaning to life.

For your prayers

For the Holy Land and wider Middle East

For the Church and especially that it may model itself on Jesus the servant
For Sarah our bishop, and Emma our area bishop

For The King and for all in authority in this land; for a spirit of service
For peace in our world and especially in Ukraine; for Yemen, Sudan and Myanmar in the midst of a civil war

For those caught in poverty, and for efforts to relieve poverty and need throughout the world

For the sick and suffering, for those in hospital, in different forms of care or supported at home

For the departed especially all who have died recently, and all whose anniversaries fall at this time especially victims of violence
